

A UltraDrill framework: stress-guided optimization plus edge verification

The contribution is compressed into two coupled components; ROI stress is the selection criterion before distillation and the verification criterion after distillation.

B Component 1 detail: teacher design space

C Decision evidence and claim boundary

